

Dear Mrs. Napolitano,

The tragic story of Debbie Milke's death sentence under more than questionable circumstances has caused grave concern among thousands of citizens throughout the world.

Based on ever increasing and alarming news about wrongful convictions in various states in the USA, I would like to implore you to personally make sure that not yet another innocent person falls victim to "state sanctioned murder".

It is in your power to set the right signals and rectify what your predecessor did wrong. The horrible murder of little Christopher Milke can certainly not be avenged by miscarriage of justice.

Respectfully,
